1. Explanation Organizational Structure

With regards to the social impact on both national and internal level

We have slowly tried to build towards the creation of another added trade name, to realize a build up company / organization that might grow anytime soon (by saying this and being the truthful version of ourselves we try to capture and become even more now.

Becoming an entrepreneur and setting up tasks including the realization of another societal challenge? We hope to both positively yet negatively, influence all people from across the globe and yet come with another mentality against this cruel thinking of (where politicians and people of power in a negative way) that correlate with a double yet negative agenda withholding the thinking as thought(s) that being strategic in this war and genocide and taking over another land/ lives of Human Beings: will grant us the highest powers and acknowledgements.

As we have thrived throughout standing up for injustice, we hope to bring in another positive change by introducing ourselves in a humane yet apologetic way to let others understand the importance of taking small steps, to reason everything that you do, to have a constant form of self reflection and have a build up to create something remarkable on the market: and that is logic thinking including the ability to set (our) ego's aside when it comes to helping others, knowing when to step in but also:

To catch and collect priorities in the fastest yet dehumanizing way, possible. With our clearest intents as therefore intentions, we need to soothe up the process by mentioning from our side that corresponding with injustice in such a way, needs to be a strategical form of witnessing "how others will reply to our organizational standards, without feeling the need to shut us up in greater forms and to form us accordingly to their insecurities and yet non reflectiveness against themselves including others."

From another perspective, we would like to zoom in showcase the amount of work (supply chaining and making sure how and a soothing process takes place on a day to day operation)

What dilemmas are there to ensure and to proceed towards the acceptance of our business packages and yet therefore, business procedures to ensure the safety of our organization and yet person that comes first.

Secondly, to ensure a fastened way of delivery packaging takes place without the disruption our our quality and further thinking process that ensures the stability of providing potential clients and customers of our products.

And yet not to mention the proper way of providing a business strategy to gain and be of hope towards an organization that seems to be noticing moves professionally but not without any consent.

Therefore, we hope to be of service to anyone that is trying to have a decent amount of orders - and will try to cooperate and to facilitate a correlated conceptual meeting in putting forward that larger parties (read: also quantities) might be interested: but yet to understand anyones thinking without registering and conducting a formal legislation and yet cooperation together.

To conclude, we have been putting in so much work the past couple in weeks in the creation of these T-Shirts that we can ensure a progress of facilitating these items for another summer and spring year - with the exception of fewer countries around the globe that might have a greater summer (in) coming for the idealization of thinking forward and being of greater witness to the other side of the world.

With this being said, we showcase our steadiness and yet appreciative way towards our website and to read our social (inter)national goal to achieve, in the near future.

2. Social Impact Goals for 2025/2026

Reading out loud: creating annexation

With our knowledge and know-how but yet also surviving skills: we have learned from both a personal and professional level on how to thrive and to strive for more, for better, for greater but also for: knowing when and how to set the right tone. Despite our way(s) in trying to create a better circle when it comes to solving problems, there is always a way in figuring things out in many aspects, in many outlines. With regards to both personal and professional outcomes, we may have other outcomes when it comes to showing and going for justice.

This form of working, reaches and comes from a position of acknowledging the ideal situation, recognizing what is going on (read: noticing the differences and spotting the signals or so called red flags both generally and specifically saying)
From here, another layer of empathy but yet courage can be found and traced back in our sayings and the way how we (speaking from a general perspective first) are about to handle and replace our faults in others.

Recognizing our self worth, matters more than anything in this entire world. Secondly, realizing our worth towards others, is another thing we can learn from, on both short and long term.

Despite being professional we know what is not good to perform and what not react to - whatever might be suitable, which has its professional limits, we hope to improve our way of working more towards creating a better future and peace, yet therefore wishful thinking, even more by now and for in the future better.

With this being said, every human being deserves the right to live, deserves the right to have a proper but formal explanation when it comes to purchasing the right product. Nevertheless, this counts for any private matter too. There are certain areas where we cannot influence any unnecessary action(s) if this can not be added to its priority list,

We are quite far in thinking all together, but we are slowly trying to understand in how to convey the and this message, even clearer that is of great purpose and greatest level of understanding to all humanity. Justice can be served in many ways, but there are certain ways that seem quite far reachable, yet.

Whilst trying to have a social impact we hold fewer criteria when it comes to reaching them hopefully in the future by recognizing its impact and importance whilst working towards annexation with the specific target group(s) which are the people of Palestine and the survivors of Srebrenica (mostly female widows that have lost their sons, their husbands, majority of both male and female, family members that are thriving and striving to survive without getaway of genocide).

In the hopes to have other remaining countries have this genocide acknowledged in the first place. Secondly, to meet the standards of being adjustable but not yet adaptable.

And lastly, who is willing to purchase and/or distribute the societal concept in where a positive impact is to be made. This can and will be implemented by the amount of costs that are going to take place, the amount of products that will be purchased over a timeframe period of one year (to set a short goal for now) where a small percentage of the profit will be shared with the remaining societal impact(s) that will hopefully last for a living lifetime and will be remembered by its transparency.

A percentage of 10-20% maximum for now, from the total perceived profit if a prediction can be made accordingly. Building up a business and extending this, takes some time, to leave a long lasting impression and impact for others.

By embracing a societal impact, we as an organization are going to take this positive challenge and will translate the priorities for survivors from Palestine and Srebrenica only for now, if the organization is about to become greater and will grow insignificantly we will try to envision and include a higher amount of people of need.

Whilst searching for the opportunities, we are going to try to focus on providing emotional assistance, financial assistance where it is truly good viewed that there are areas that might need further improvement and yet assistance. From our top down perspective, we are going to search for limits in how to increase any emotional and health dilemmas that needs to be better improved and facilitated.

Furthermore, the following table will display our critical way of thinking in putting the puzzle pieces together for another year of trying to create imbalanced societal impact.

3. Table for actions

What is needed in order to stabilize for the coming year	What actions are performed in the meantime and after + possible achieved results + from neutral to very balanced	What is needed in order to reach the set standard and criteria for 2025-2026	Types of measurement(s)
Double plan, organize winter collection or add a specific product that can be used for the long run	Joy of life - increase of neutrality and balance (which can be measured for both the survivors of Srebrenica and Gaza/Palestine in general)	Follow up with setting the right tones and/or priorities	Measuring of psychological needs
How can the cold season be compared to its safety measures	Both are high in their frequency ladder state - according to behavioral patterns, state of mind, state of relaxation Measurements: taken place over years, facial expressions and tones, stability or not, acceptance of their faith and fate Combined with thankfulness and gratitude with the active and passive state Admiration for their consciousness in survival for both Palestine and Srebrenica	Measuring its existence and capacity	Measuring of emotional needs (missing and adding it up)
What possibilities will be created to improve the unset priorities		Following up with the missing points that are crucial for the emotional needs in containing healthy balanced	Measuring of financial transcription

What patterns are shown by its conclusion	Showing stability in the first place is of virtue, followed by healthy signs and/or patterns Third and last foremost, trying to put some puzzle pieces together whilst searching for added light scanners/sensors that might be of remaining standouts for what needs more push (retrieving energetic connections that can be of great search that correlates with character and has a high and broad meaning)	Reach a higher state of consciousness	Physiological aspect - to create a deeper layer of annexation
What atrocity will be dismantled		Accepting the reality for what it is	Physiological aspect 2.0 - to create another deeper layer of annexation to showcase its cultures, values and norms
Which safe zones will be appointed	The need to know for - what particular therapy was inserted over the years to maximize effort and create further balanced existence? Was is faith - fate - religion that made them believe in the Hereafter even more? What was/has been their breaking point	Measuring great mournings 1-5 years of measuring the real deal after	Physiological aspect 3.0 - to create another deeper layer of annexation to showcase specifically a form of connecting to its roots (gardening, personal interviews, perhaps video clips that can be showcased online as a possible idea if agreed upon)

What is needed in order to stabilize for the coming year	What actions are performed in the meantime and after + possible achieved results + from neutral to very balanced	What is needed in order to reach the set standard and criteria for 2025-2026	Types of measurement(s)
Which and what dots can and will be connected	Combining of social emotional wounds - social emotional re-assurance (increase/decrease) What actions have been performed over the years that need more transcription and translation (what was talked through a lot and what was not talked through at all)	Showcasing quality reports in terms of individual goals - and country related goals That can be helpful of the buildup for remaining parts	A slight form of trauma therapy / release accordingly by only removing a slight layer of worry - done by individual at once, once the timing is ripe
What are the missing needs that are in charge of its further existence specifically and generically speaking	Letting go peacefully in accordance with their religious perspective(s) + letting go of acknowledgement if needed The missing piece will remain there forever	Maintaining further contact and assistance where it is possible	Genocide day that brings them in further acceptance to put forward
